GIVEN RELEASE CERTIFICATES

Many Farms, Under Quarantine Last Year, Free from Ticks This Summer.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] BURKEVILLE, VA., June 30.—Fine progress is being made in tick eradicaprogress is being made in tick eradica-tion in Virginia. Dr. J. G. Ferney-hough, for the State, and Dr. T. M. Owen, for the United States depart-ment, have signed "release certificates" for the following farms in the county of Powhatan, since the farms, upon in-spection this season, were found abso-lutely free from tick-infested cattle. Benefits Follow Attention.

From the above can be plainly seen the benefit which is being given the cattle men of the counties in which the people are actively at work watching their cattle daily, keeping them absolutely free from ticks by changing them from the pastures on which tloks were found last season, by daily using applications of grease, and, in fact, doing many of the practical things which they have been advised to do in order to get rid of the cattle ticks on their farms. Every farm quarantined last year will be visited this season, provided local cattle inspectors have been furnished by the counties to work with the Federal authorities as assistants to the State veterinarian, and if the farms are found absolutely free from tick-infested cattle in the season. in each case as was done in these above in each case as was done in those above release the farm from quarantine.

When the farms have been so released, cattle from the same may be moved without further quarantine restrictions to any portion of the State, or United States, provided they do not have to cross any quarantined territory why being driven.

Very Simple Plan.

A more simple plan and effective

A more simple Plan.

A more simple plan and effective method of eradicating the cattie tick has never been conceived than the way in which the work is being conducted in the Old Dominion. The actual work is being done by local cattlemen in the different counties. These men are being assisted and instructed by the State Veterinarian and the Federal inspectors from the Bureau of Animal Industry. Dr. T. M. Owen, of the United States Bureau, is most popular with the State authorities (and lar with the State authorities (and the local county authorities) in Vir-ginia, as well as with the cattle-own rapidly and most satisfactorily, much to the gratification of all concerned, However, it is all important that county authorities and cattle-owners county authorities and cattle-owners continue active from now until the 1st of November, as the cattle tick will be seen now where it could not be found earlier in the season. Owners of cattle should destroy every tick that can be found. Where ticks are found from now on the quarantine will not be raised, hence the importance of destroying them. destroying them.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
FREDERICKSBURG, VA., June 30.—
At a meeting of the City Council inst night, Colonel E. D. Cole, who has served the city as Councilman for twenty-seven years, tendered his resignation as president of the body, and Councilman W. E. Bradley was elected to succeed him as president. Colonel Cole presented the annual report of the Finance Committee, showing the affairs of the city to be in excellent condition, with a balance of $11.759 in the treasury. After presenting this report, Colonel Cole resigned as a member of the Council, his resignation to take effect July 1st. This action was impelled by business reasons. Colonel Cole has always been a leader in the affairs of the city, and his services have been of great value. It is a source of general regret that he sees fit to sever his official relations with the city.
